I create dependable and scalable frontend solutions, I'm passionate about leveraging code to bring application designs to life. I specialize in building the user interface of the web and creating exceptional, meaningful and seamless experience to users. I'm a frontend developer that enjoys merging well-structured code with nice interfaces and seamless performance. I use HTML, CSS, Javascript, and React to create web and mobile solutions.

I am committed to excellence, collaboration, teamwork and enthusiastic about using my engineering background to solve complex challenges and create enjoyable experiences. I am motivated to continue growing my skills and gaining new experiences from a diversity of teams and projects.
